Open Evening 2014 - Record Numbers!

Record numbers of Year 6 pupils enjoyed what was described by many parents as “a totally brilliant Open Evening” on Wednesday. Pupils took part in a wide range of activities including; wierd science, water polo in the pool, mucky maths, truly horrible history, pizza making, wild about animals, murder mysteries, forensics, a taste of France and Spain and many others. Kirsty, Year 6 pupil said “I have had the most amazing fun ever! The science was just incredible, so many whizzy experiments.” Mrs James, Year 6 parent commented, “Redruth School have absolutely captured the spirit of education through the most fantastic activities, demonstrations, events and displays, practically all of it, led by Redruth students themselves.”

Young Writers

Eleven Redruth School students have had their work selected for publication through a national writing competition. The competition run by Young Writers encourages students to write from the point of view of somebody who inspires or intrigues them and create a mini monologue.

Several students took part and were delighted to be informed that their work had been selected for publication. Mini Monologues is due to be published on the 30th November.

‘The Selling of the Miner’s Wife

Redruth School students performed “The Selling of the Miner’s Wife” on Friday 12th September in Redruth. The students were amazing representatives of Redruth School and the drama department.

The students performed at Tatie Court on Redruth’s high street to a large crowd. The hustle and bustle of the street didn’t put them off and you could hear every word! Fantastic performance. A massive well done! DJ Bradley

After being approached by a new radio network, Year 10 pupil Bradley Copp has been offered a Saturday radio show on Truro's CHBN. The 14 yr old Redruth School student DJ, has advanced from Redruth internet radio station to CHBN which gives him the opportunity to broadcast on FM radio to new FM radio listeners, to Royal Cornwall Hospital and to internet users.

He is keen to receive requests and features from students in Redruth. You can contact Bradley on djbradleytruro@yahoo.com. Why not tune in on your radio or on the CHBN website.

Real Project

This week Year 7 Students started their Real Project book; all students had to contribute by drawing an illuminated letter. Also, we were given jobs such as, Creative Editor or Cover Designer, I was Editor in Chief. To create the illuminated letters we researched a word that started with our letter and was linked to Cornwall.

The book is just getting started and you can read about the progress of the book in the newsletter each week.
